The Human Capital of A Company

Maslow's Hierarchy of Needs explains to us the fulfillment of every individual in whatever role they subsume in their lives whether with their immediate community or society at a larger role of belonging. Every individual belongs in their C@ompany and having their needs attended to, affirmed, receiving congenial affection towards their inter-relatedness to the Company.

"Growth must be chosen again and again; fear must be overcome again and again." "The great lesson is that the sacred is in the ordinary, that is to be found in one's daily life." "When people appear to be something other than good and decent, it is only because they are reacting to stress, pain, or the deprivation of basic human needs such as security, love, and self-esteem." Abraham Maslow
